The drop of prices was not checked by markedly easier tone of the call oney market, and the progressive easing call loans during the day. This development robbed the bank statement of its favorable influence and pointed to the clusion that the $18.000,000 loan increase is largely due to the annual interest dividend requirements such as would riseased to the market again. The satisfactory outlook in the money arket was the factor in the final harding of the stock market, which left a transmitted the same and the end of day. Heavy corporation borrowings still counted upon, but the reflux of not from the interior is looked to to remain the local bank reserves. The rem of funds to the New York banks is manonly heavy during the month of purity.

Grain and Provisions.

Grain and Provisions.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—Wheat opened very nervous and weak. There was an early selling rush from outside interests, influenced by an advance in consols on reports of conciliatory methods to be adopted by Russia in regard to the situation in the far East. The opening price on May ranged between $650 and $70 a loss of $50 to $150 from Saturday's closing figures. The weakness was only momentary, however, good sustaining orders being quickly pluced and the offerings readily absorbed. The leading long was an open buyer on the break. The European markets were higher, the war news still showed some alarming symptoms, and flour was reported to have advanced at Minneapolis, so that in connection with all these the market soon rallied, May Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm of Fergus Falls, Minn, fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sieep, which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by all drug-advancing to $7\frac{1}{2}c. Profit-taking caused another decline, but around $6\frac{1}{2}c. the price became comparatively steady. There was a large trade at times, with great activity whenever any pronounced buying or selling started. A strong tone prevailed at the close, although all the early loss was not recovered. May was $\frac{1}{2}c. lower at $6\frac{1}{2}c. Clearances of what and flour were equal to $5\frac{1}{2}c. Dubbels. Primary receipts were 1,117.10 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,117.10 bushels, against $6\frac{1}{2}c. $2\frac{1}{2}c. $2\frac{1}{2}c.

Veakness prevailed in provisions at the start, due to the break in the price of grains. As soon as the grain markets steadled, however, there was a good demand from commission houses and a raily occurred. An advance of 10 to 20c in the prices of hogs was the main bull factor. The cose was steady, with May pork up 77½c at $12.67½, May lard unchanged at $7.17½ and ribs loc lower at $6.80.

OLEO GETS AN INNING

Butter Substitute to Be Handled Here.

BEALERS PAY A HEAVY TAX

High Price of the Real Article Breaks Barriers.

Butterine Is Ten Cents Lower, and Experts Can't Taste Difference by Taste.

After having been kept off the market for some time, "butterine," or "oleomargarine," will today be offered to local dealers, and it is believed that from now on considerable quantities of the manufacturer's substitute for a dairy product will be consumed in Salt Lake. The reason that oleomargarine has not been used here is on account of the heavy tax placed on dealers by the Government and other restrictions which the law places upon its manufacture and sale. The wholesale dealer must pay a license or tax of $200 before he can handle it and another tax must be paid by the retailer. Every package must bear a stamp showing exactly what it is, and there is a heavy penalty for selling the stuff for butter, although no one can tell the difference by tasting it, and it is said to be fully as wholesome and healthful as the real article. Even the wagons of dealers who handle the oleo must bear signs acquainting the public with that fact, and the restauranteur or hotel man who permits butterine to go on his table without warning his guests of the nature of the mixture is subject to a

But, in view of the high price of genuine butter, one prominent commission house has decided to meet all these obstacles and make it an object for the retail dealer to handle butterine, the object to the consumer being the difference in price. Only two grades of the butterine will be handled and the wholesale price of these will be 14 and 15 cents in pound prints, or about 10 cents less than real butter. It is claimed that the only appreciable difference between the imitation and the genuine, except from a purely sentimenal standpoint, is the color. The butterine is white, the Government imposing an additional tax of 10 cents a pound on the article when it is in the least colored. To prove how nearly the imitation resembles the real, two butter experts were yesterday called upon to taste samples of butterine and the best creamery butter. Both were sure that the butterine was creamery butter and were inclined to be suspicious of the real butter.

The produce business was yesterday showing some signs of improvement, although it will be some little time before there will be complete recovery from the after-holiday reaction. Chickens are scarce and stronger. Good supplies of mountain trout are on hand and the demand is quite active.

Wheat is gaining strength, on account of so much of the Northern crop having been frost-bitten, and an advance is expected very soon. But, in view of the high price of genuine
